
PURPOSE ON MISSION

Declaring the Glory of God, 1Chronicles 16:24-25

By Sean Conrad

Introduction: In the church world, the word ‘mission’ is often reserved for a short-term trip to help the less fortunate or for those who have committed to long-term careers as missionaries. However, we all have our own unique missions to which we have been called. God has placed us into specific locations and situations so that we can make Him known to the world. Though we have different missions, we were all created for a common purpose. King David provides a simple command in 1 Chronicles 16:24-25 to remind us that we were created to declare the glory of God.
